

COSHH for Carers

3 Hour
course

Who is it for?

Unaccredited

COSHH Awareness online or face to face training course provides adequate training for all levels of employees who work or may come into contact with hazardous substances. All employees need to have the necessary knowledge to be competent and to do their job correctly. This includes, but is not limited to, people who work in the following areas:

Agriculture
 Beauty and hairdressing
 Catering and baking
 Cleaning
 Engineering
 Healthcare and social care
 Offshore oil and gas
 Printing
 Vehicle repair and painting
 Welding
 Woodworking

What's Covered?

Syllabus

- Introduction
- What does COSHH mean?
- What is a hazardous substance
- COSHH risk assessing
- Stages of a COSHH risk assessment
- Reviewing COSHH assessments
- COSHH Regulation
- CHIP and GHS regulations
- Labelling of substances - CHIP and CLP symbols
- Employee and Employer Duties
- Control of Major Accidents Hazards Regulations 2015
- Types of Hazardous Substance
- Mixing of chemicals
- Liquids
- Gases and Vapours
- Lead products
- Explosive material
- Solvents
- How can you be affected?
- Routes of entry to the body
- Medical conditions
- COSHH in the office
- Protection and accidental exposure
- Hierarchy of control
- Personal Protective Equipment
- Handling of chemicals
- COSHH Control measures
- Accidental Exposure
- Reporting and Management
- Clean-up Procedures
- Medical and dental waste products
- Workplace Exposure Limits (WEL)
- Enforcement of COSHH
- Permit to Work
- Emergency Procedures
- COSHH Health surveillance
- Storage of chemicals
- COSHH clean-up procedures
- ADR kit and transporting chemicals
- What is not covered under COSHH
- Asbestos and its dangers
- Lead and it's dangers
- Radioactive substances

On successful completion of the course, all delegates will receive a Certificate of Attendance which we recommend is renewed every year

Attendance

The maximum number of delegates permitted on each course is 12, and they must attend the entire course duration to be eligible to gain the Certificate of Attendance.

Book Now with Passion First Aid

Call: 07811 025169

Email: jim.jones@passionfirstaid.co.uk

www.passionfirstaid.co.uk